

Vodafone One Net Mobile

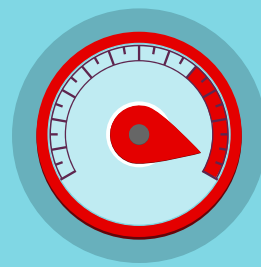

Take your first step towards integrated communications

Moving to a fully integrated, cloud-based communications platform can make your business more flexible and efficient. However, we realise that businesses can't always move their telephone system, fixed lines and mobiles at the same time.

With Vodafone One Net Mobile, you can take a phased approach to integrated communications by first bringing your mobiles over to our fully secure, hosted platform.

The benefits of integrated communications

Speed of doing business:
Quicker resolution of customer queries and collaboration between colleagues.

Productivity and efficiency:
Staff can get more done and teamwork is improved.

Customer experience:
Calls can be directed to the right person to answer the customer query.

More control:
Manage your features and how calls are handled.

By moving your mobiles to the cloud...

You decide how calls are routed.

Intelligent call handling features such as Hunt Groups ensure calls are always answered by the right person and you no longer need to set up expensive call divers.

You'll be in control.

The online Feature Management Portal lets you manage your call features and profiles.

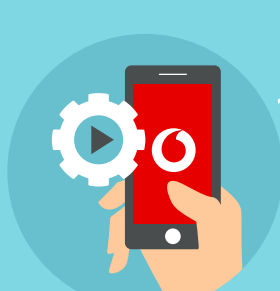

You decide when you're contactable.

Choose how to route calls outside of working hours or when you're away, either by collecting a voicemail or allowing a colleague in your mobile Hunt Group to answer for you.

You control your costs.

Our mobile price plans give you a shared data allowance, data capping, inclusive roaming, plus international and non-geographic call bundles.

You can integrate your fixed services.

When you're ready to move your fixed services over, we can easily upgrade you to our complete One Net Business solution.

Empower your business with Vodafone One Net Mobile.

The future is exciting.
